

Appendix B – Template web site providers

The CMLS has worked to provide a low-cost means for Participants to have an IDX web presence.

The following is a list of several companies that can provide CMLS members with inexpensive “template” web sites. Such sites have “search engines” and “user interfaces” that are the same from broker to broker, but with unique broker branding.

This information is provided is not intended to be a complete list, has not been pre-screened and is intended for reference purposes only. The CMLS does not endorse or recommend these vendors, their products nor does it guarantee their work. The CMLS does not receive any fees under these relationships.

Your best means of getting the best deal is to ask the questions in Section 6.5 above before signing any contract with a web site designer.
